COCKTAILS

Passion Star Martini

£13.00

Vanilla vodka, Passoa, lime juice and a Prosecco shot

This crowd-pleasing combination of vanilla and passion fruit, accompanied by a shot of sparkling wine, has spread far from its origins at London’s Townhouse bar in the early 2000s.

Espresso Martini

£13.00

Vodka, Tia Maria, espresso

This “pick me up” style of cocktail is a result of an off-the-cuff lightbulb moment by the pioneering and now late but legendary bartender Dick Bradsell from London.

Aperol Spritz

£13.00

Aperol, Prosecco, soda water

Though Aperol itself didn’t come into being until 1919, the idea of a spritz has been around for much longer. The name appears to trace back to the 1800s in when portions of the Veneto region of northern Italy were controlled by the Austro-Hungarian Empire. Visitors and soldiers from other parts of the empire were said to have found Italian wines too strong and so lightened them with a splash (a “spritz,” in German) of water.

Italian Spritz

£13.00

Campari, Prosecco, soda water

The Campari Spritz is the bigger, bolder and more assertive cousin to the Aperol Spritz. The Campari Spritz is a fresh and delicious staple of the sparkling cocktail category and remains an excellent option for fans of bitter and herbaceous flavors.

Old Fashioned

£13.50

Woodford Reserve, Angostura Bitters and Brown Sugar

A well-made Old Fashioned cocktail is a timeless drink that never fails to wow. The lack of its complexity has surely been essential in its longevity and popularity with only three basic ingredients.

Cosmopolitan

£13.50

Citrus vodka, Cointreau, gum syrup, cranberry, lime juice

Bartender Neal Murray says he created the cosmopolitan in 1975 at the Cork & Cleaver steak house in Minneapolis. According to Murray, he added a splash of cranberry juice to a Kamikaze and the first taster declared, “How cosmopolitan.”

Negroni

£13.00

Durham Gin, Martini Rosso, Campari

The Negroni is said to have been invented in Florence by the dauntless Italian Count Camillo Negroni in the early 20th Century. The story attributes its creation to Count Camillo Negroni, who requested a stronger version of his usual Americano cocktail by substituting gin for the soda water. The bartender also added an orangepeel to differentiate it, and the Negroni was born.

Lemon Basil Smash

£13.00

Durham Mango Gin, lemon juice, sugar, basil, soda water

The Gin Basil Smash was created by German barman Joerg Meyer at the bar Le Lion in Hamburg around 2008. According to Meyer he was inspired by Dale Degroff’s Whiskey Smash. It is very similar to the Mojito subbing out Rum for Gin and Basil for Mint.

Margarita

£14.00

Tequila, Cointreau, lime juice, gum syrup

Tequila and triple sec combine in this fabulous margarita cocktail recipe, mixed with lime juice.
